

This model is a slight variation with a wavy bottom end. They're layed out this way so you can print the same page twice in case you want the models to be all identical.

The eyes parts can be positioned in any direction so have your way with them. You can change the looking direction as well for bit of extra variation.

Use cross stitching for joining the split edges. The eyes parts will be attached to the bodies using saddle stitching.

