A close-up photograph of a brown leather bag, likely a saddle bag or a similar piece of traditional leatherwork. The bag features intricate yellow stitching along its seams and edges. A single yellow thread is shown being pulled through a small hole in the leather, indicating a step in the sewing process. The background is a blue and white checkered surface.

A close-up photograph of a leather-bound book, showing the intricate stitching of the spine and cover. The leather is a rich, dark brown with a visible grain. The stitching is done in a traditional saddle stitch using a thick, off-white thread. The thread forms a series of loops that are visible on both sides of the leather, creating a durable and decorative pattern. The lighting highlights the texture of the leather and the sheen of the thread.

Attach strap on two rivets and than check size on your head. Even 0.5 cm makes size difference. If you are making this cap for yourself you can attach just one snap.

Cap is done :)

Congratulation !!!
