

The background of the entire image is a dark, textured surface, possibly wood or stone, with various leather patterns and tools. A prominent pattern in the upper center features a deer head silhouette within a shield-like shape, bordered by decorative stitching. Below this, there are more leather pieces, some with stitching, and a pair of black-handled scissors is visible in the lower right corner. Two large, overlapping circles are positioned in the center: a bright yellow one on the left and a light gray one on the right. The text is overlaid on these circles and the background.
